Dear Giorgia Lupi and Team,

I'm excited to apply for the Mid-to-Senior Graphic Designer position. Pentagram has been one of the design practices that has inspired me throughout my career. I follow Team Giorgia Lupi's work closely.

As an independent designer, I've developed brand identities, campaigns, and digital experiences. I've also collaborated with publishers, arts institutions, and design and architecture studios. My work has included art direction for publications, as well as environmental graphics and information-design projects for museums.

One project I'm especially proud of is Tete, an educational-toy project. As one of its two partners, I was part of the core team and worked across the project, from developing its name and brand identity to designing the toys and their recycled-material packaging. I also designed the project's production and distribution processes and took part in putting them into practice. Across my broader practice, I've developed the ability to turn complex content into clear, engaging visual stories and to build distinctive systems that work across media.

My approach combines conceptual thinking with the careful development of visual identity systems. I enjoy exploring tools that let me experiment, refine ideas, and simplify and reuse design processes. I'm especially interested in using code as both a practical tool and a design language.

I'd welcome the opportunity to contribute to Team Giorgia Lupi and help create thoughtful, expressive design systems. Thank you for considering my application.

Best,
Ariel Rodriguez Mendez
